doug dannaway, a neonatologist at the children's hospital at ou medical center.

the study presented here is part of a broader effort to reposition the pre-conquest history of the manchus within various local, regional, and global historical contexts.